house and asked for a bottle of milk. Her son was in the house at the tima and the man stated that he would rall a little later, she said. When he boy left the house, the man again entered the house and according to Mrs. Acosta, attempted to assault her. She fought him off and the man fled, she said.

Complaint was flied against the man by Mrs. Gifford, daughter of Mrs. Acosta and his arrest followed. Rodrigues was turned over to the county authorities Monday morning and he will have his preliminary hearing in justice Murphy's court late this afternoon.

JEDGE EBWARDS APPOINTED

RECEIVER FOR LAGUNA COTTON

Judge P. R. Price, of the dist district court, Saturday afternoon appointed judge Peyton F. Edwards receiver for the shipment of cotton brought here from Mexico and now being held in the yards of the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio ralifond. Judge Edwards bond was fixed at $25,000.

The cotton was shipped by Constitutionalist authorities to Gabriel Madero,
a brother of the late president Madero of Mexico. The cotton was held up with a writ of injunction at the instance of Augusto Idanes Serrano.

Later the injunction was dissolved.

Kaw Trying to Rid Cities of Bad Odors.

One of the effects of the fight being made by the cattlemen of El Paso to prevent the defiling of the sir and depreciation of property in this city has been the reopening of the fight of the people of Kansas City, Kan, against the obnoxious smells and dangerous gases emanating from the stockyards district of that city.

For 25 years or more, Kansas City, both the Missouri town and the Kansas fown of that name, have been fighting to have the stockyards unisance in that great cattle center shated. Up to this time the packers have been powerful enough to render shortive any action taken by the citisene of either city. This time, however, the health department of Kansas City, Kan, has opened a fight which Dr. C. W. McLaughlin, chairman of the board of health, declares will be to a finish and in this he is backed up by city attorney R. J. Higgins, the members of the city council and the voters and property holders whom they represent.

Packers Secking Deiny.

Pursuing their usual factics, the packers are praying for delay. This packers are praying for delay. This surmise is based upon a letter sent by Swift & Co. to J. E. Calcun, commissioner of finance of Kansas City, Kan., in which the his packing concern takes the ground that the federal government is attempting to discover means whereby the gases arising from packing house and stockyards plants may be consumed in furnaces and their obnoxious qualities rendered less apparent to the general public, and that therefore, the city government should not make any attempt at this time to abate the oldlime nuisance for fear of interfering with the work of the general government.

commissioners are active.

According to an article in the Kansas City Star of Thursday, Dec. 3, health commissioner Martin can see nothing in the position taken by the packers except an effort to do what they have often done before, namely save them selves expense while the public continues to breathe the offensive gases and vapors from the decaying animal matter in their plants, which have polluted the atmosphere of both Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., since the establishment of the stockyards in the valley of the Kansas City Kan. and Kansas City, Mo. since the establishment of the stockyards in the valley of the Kan, if years ago.

To Prevent Food Pollution.

Dr. James Fleming, chief of the Kansas City branch of the National Bureau of Animal Industry, in an Interview in the Kansas City Star of Dec. 4, admitted that the federal government was bringing pressure to bearing wats, from the tanks in which offal in converted into fertilizer, glue, soap and other articles of merchandise, and from the canneries, can be conducted to the furnaces in the boiler room and there consumed.

"The government's interest, of course" said Dr. Fleming, "is to obtain the best sanitary conditions surrounding food products, but so far as the evil of offensive odors affects the interest of the city, it is a matter that may be dealt with locally.

Will Coperate With City.

may be dealt with locally.

Will Coperate With City.

"The Bureau of Animal Industry will glady cooperate with the city and will also welcome the cooperation of the parkers. Meats and other articles of food prepared in a modern packing plant absorb the gases arising from decaying animal matter and it is in order to prevent this absorption of offensive adors and gases by meats and other articles of food prepared in the packing plants that the government is interesting itself in compelling the packers to provide means whereby the gases may be destroyed before food is contaminated."

Ents Holes in Boller Tubes.

Ents Holes in Holler Tubes.

One of the objections raised by the packers to having the gases consumed for their furnaces is that the gases consumed in their furnaces is that the gases generated in a packing house, when consumed in furnaces or boilers, eat out the holler flues. It is also contended that any specially constructed furnaces for the purpose of consuming gases can last for but a very short time because of the corrosive effect of the gases upon the metal part. They may that this has been demonstrated in the city of Loudon, where the health

Nothing Will Withstand It.

No method of construction has as yet been devised and no material has been found which will withstand the corresive effects of the animal gases when subjected to heat. This argument, when advanced at a meeting of the commissioners of Kansas City, Kansa, caused the chairman to remark that it packing house gases would eat holes in boiler flues and cause fire brick furnaces to disintegrate the effect upon the lungs and other tissues of the human body must be equally bad and made it all the more necessary, therefore, that the packers be compelled to dispose of them in some way, regardless of cost. Nothing Will Withstand It.

dispose of them in some way, regardless of cost.

A Detriment to Business.

In an editorial on the subject the Kansas City Times says:

"It is meneral and reasonable that
the commissioners of Kansas City, Kans. should endeavor to get rid of the odors of the packing plants. While those plants have been of great benefit to the city, it must be recognized that the odors from the plants have proved a serious detriment to business interests and to real entate values."

El Paso Can Save Itself.

The people of El Paso have it in their power, through their city govenment, to make it impossible that it shall ever be confronted with the problem which now confronts Kansas City.
By compelling all stockyards and packing plants to be erected outside the city limits and far enough away El Paso will be saved the annoyance of the stenches which cannot be disassociated from the livestock industry and will avoid the "serious detriment to business interests and to real estate values" which the Kansas City Times, above quoted, says are traceable to the stenches arising from the stockyards
of that city.—(Advertisement.)
